Job Description

The Martin-Gatton College of Agriculture, Food and Environment \(M-G CAFE\) seeks a dynamic and visionary Chair of the Department of Agricultural Economics. As a land-grant university, we value a demonstrated commitment towards integrating research, instruction, and extension programs, as well as a keen dedication to the needs of the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Our People

The department currently has 22 full-time faculty, three post-doctoral scholars and 28 staff. The department currently has 150 undergraduate students, and 18 graduate students. The department also provides substantial teaching and advising support for 300-plus students in the interdepartmental undergraduate Equine Science and Management and Natural Resources and Environmental Science majors in the College.

Extension, Research, and Instruction

The department's faculty and staff provide Extension programming across a wide range of focus areas including, but not limited to, farm management, grain and livestock marketing, local foods and direct marketing of specialty crops, macroeconomics and public policy, and economic development. The department focuses on three research and graduate education areas: 1) regional economics/rural economic development; 2) agricultural production economics; and 3) marketing/consumer demand. Students in our Agricultural Economics undergraduate major select from three possible curriculum tracks: 1) Agribusiness Management and Food Marketing; 2) Agricultural Economics; and 3) Advanced Studies in Agricultural Economics. The department also supports a large number of students pursuing minors in Agricultural Economics.

Specialized and Related Programs

Most departmental offices are located in the Charles E. Barnhart Building on UK's Lexington Campus. Kentucky Farm Business Management (KFBM) Program specialists are located in six counties across Kentucky. In addition to KFBM, other specialized departmental programs include the Kentucky Agricultural Leadership Program \(KALP\) and the UK Income Tax Seminar Program. Departmental faculty and staff are also active in a variety of additional college efforts including:

- Community and Economic Development Initiative of Kentucky \(CEDIK\)
- Food Systems Innovation Center
- MarketReady™ Producer Training Program
- The Food Connection
- Kentucky Small Business Development Center
- Center for Crop Diversification
- UK Industrial Hemp Agronomic Research

College Opportunities

This is an exciting time to be joining M-G CAFE. The late University of Kentucky alum and former trustee Carol Martin "Bill" Gatton bestowed a transformational gift of $100 million to the college this past spring through The Bill Gatton Foundation. This is not only the largest gift to the university in its nearly 160-year history but is also believed to be the largest to a college of agriculture in the United States. This gift will accelerate our land-grant mission through activities and support for student success, academic programming, 21st Century capital projects and initiatives, as well as faculty research and innovation.

We are also amid of a campus precinct planning process that involves creating a strong M-G CAFE campus identity to promote environmental stewardship and foster excellence. An important part of this
